Closter Brewery

The Strahov Monastic Brewery is located close by to the Prague Castle in the building of the Strahov Monastery, which was founded by King Vladislav II in 1142. The first documentation of the brewery comes form the turn of the 13th and 14th centuries. The decision on the construction of a new and fully functional brewery, where the restaurant is today, was made by Abbot Kaspar Questenberg in 1628. The brewery was closed in 1907, and the buildings were used solely as farm houses. The brewery was restored only three years ago, in 2000, during an extensive and difficult reconstruction of the entire complex.

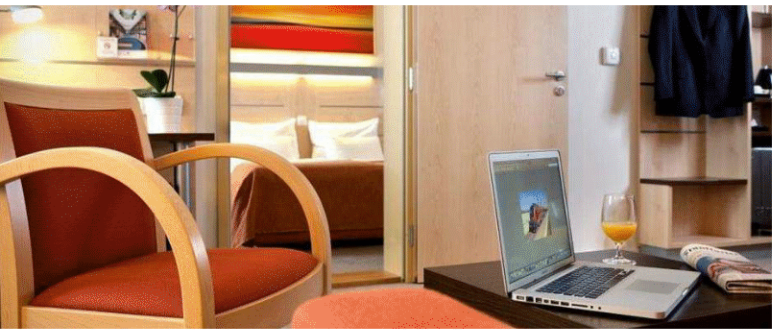

Night Prague walks

As night falls and the crowds thin, we'll take you from the Old Town Square, across the river Vltava, to the palaces, monasteries and monuments of Prague Castle. This tour gives you a unique view of this famous site, when the tour parties and crowds have gone, and will introduce you to some of the darker parts of the Castle's history.
We will walk through the lanes and courtyards where alchemists and astrologers once worked, visit the monastery, hear about the "Devil's Bible", and stop for a while by the "Hole to Hell". Your guide will lead you through the city's dark and often esoteric history, from "Good King" Wenceslas to Holy Roman Emperor Charles IV and on to golden age of Prague during Emperor Rudolf II. As well as some stunning views of Prague by night, you'll also have the chance to see the Golden Lane, once the home of Franz Kafka.

Bohemian Paradise - UNESCO Geopark

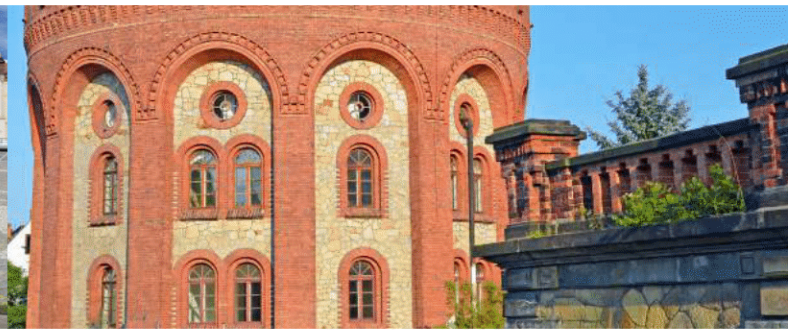

The fairytale Bohemian Paradise area. For centuries the Bohemian Paradise area has attracted painters, writers, artists, and dreamers of all kinds. Discover this unique combination of bizarre rock formations, deep pine forests, majestic castles and sublime villages of timber cottages, losing yourself for a moment in the labyrinth that is the Bohemian Paradise area. eclared the first geopark in the country by UNESCO, the Bohemian Paradise area is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the Czech Republic. One of the biggest attractions is the area of rock formations between the towns of Jičín and Železný Brod. Thanks to the forces of nature you can admire lofty sandstone forms here, worn into weird and wonderful shapes, some of which are 60m tall. Some have been given strange names such as Taktovka (Baton), Kapelník (Choirmaster), Maják (Lighthouse) and Dračí zub (Dragon's Tooth).

Zittau

Zittau is a city in the south east of the Free State of Saxony, Germany, close to the border tri-point of Germany, Poland, and the Czech Republic. It is part of the District of Görlitz. The inner city of Zittau still shows its original beauty with many houses from several periods of German architecture. There is the famous town hall built in an Italian style, the church of St John and the stables (Salzhaus) with its medieval heritage. This multi-storied building is one of the oldest of its kind in Germany.

Hotel Maly Pivovar

HOTEL MALÝ PIVOVAR

building itself was likely built in the second half of the 16th century during construction of the Renaissance castle which was built on the ruins of the monastery. It is here that we come across the first records speaking of the fact that the estate included a small castle brewery, an integral part of which was rooms for the production of malt, i.e. a MALT HOUSE.
In 1623, the owners of the premises were the Waldstein-Wartenbergs. The first and also most important owner was Albrecht von Wallenstein, who is buried in the nearby chapel within the Mnichovo Hradiště castle premises.
An extensive restoration took place in 1852 with everything following from the needs of the Klášter brewery. At the same time, more and more extensive cellars were constructed throughout the premises. Also worthy of mention is the bricked in artillery round in the hotel's façade where it was attacked by Prussian artillery. It is a reminder of the Austro-Prussian War and the battle at Mnichovo Hradiště which took place on 28 June 1866.Its latest chapter begins in the 1990s and with the Klášter brewery. The brewery decided to construct a brewery restaurant in the basement rooms which became a favoured destination for many visitors.

HISTORY OF THE HOTEL

According to a number of preserved documents, the historic rooms within the HOTEL MALÝ PIVOVAR site date back to the mid-12th century when the Cistercian Order chose this location to build their enormous monastery, today the KLÁŠTER brewery. SKÁLA RESTAURANT'S underground rooms, loosely linked to the hotel, also come from this period and were carved into the rock by hand by the monks who were building the monastery. If you look closely, you will see that originally it was two cellars one above the other, which were later joined together into one large hall. Naturally, construction of the cellars took up a lot of time, apparently 38 years. Over the centuries, these dug out caves have served the monks as temporary accommodation and for hiding from uninvited guests.

ROCK RESTAURANT

offers daily untraditional spaces for a good lunch , a cozy dinner and all kinds of events . Background of our restaurant allows you to conveniently serve 160 guests and there is also space for a dance party.

Hotel Hruba Skala

Kutna Hora Town

Kutná Hora, the city of silver, is deservedly attributed the other name “national treasury”. This is to say that its wealth helped to ensure the boom of the Czech Kingdom. The centre of the city was included in the UNESCO world heritage list in 1995 thanks to its historical importance and architectural gems. All of the streets, houses and churches exude a long history full of important events. The symbol of Kutná Hora is the unique late Gothic Cathedral of St. Barbara. Minting coins in the royal mint. The Wallachian Court became the centre of economic events, seat of the rulers and the royal mint, in which the first groschen were already being minted under the reign of Wenceslas II, who called in experts to Kutná Hora from the Italian city of Florence and started a currency reform.

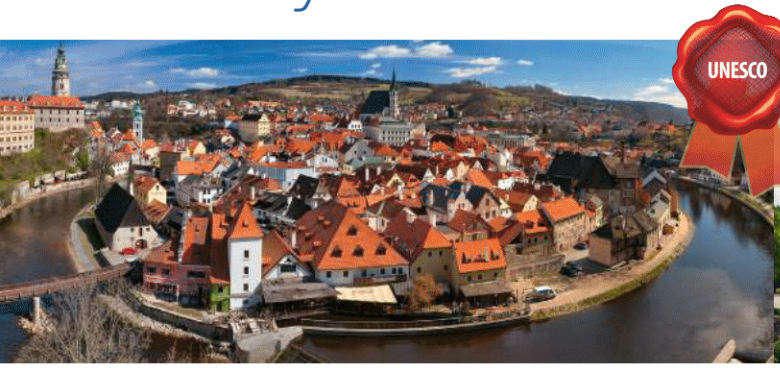

BIZARRE DECORATION FROM HUMAN BONES

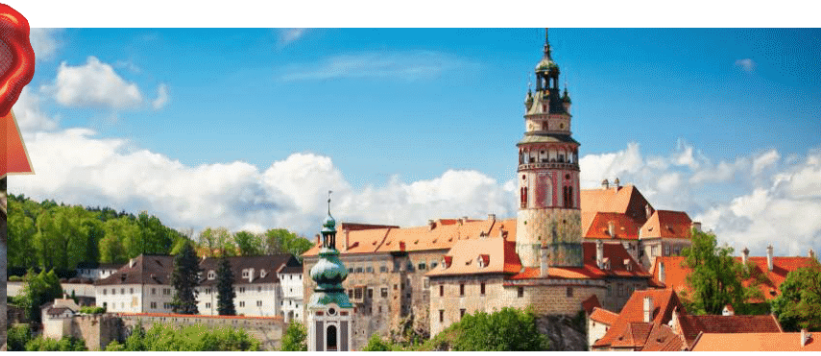

Do you like unusual places? Then you absolutely must visit the complex of the former Cistercian Abbey in Sedlec near Kutná Hora. A visit to the UNESCO listed Cathedral Church of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary and St. John the Baptist and the world famous Ossuary of the Cemetery Church of All Saints is an amazing experience in its own right. If you visit these places late in the evening, you will be accompanied by guides dressed in the habits of Cistercian monks. The premises of the cathedral and ossuary are lit only by candlelight and you have a great opportunity to listen to some Gregorian chant and the sound of the cathedral organ. However, the late Gothic Cathedral of Saint Barbara is a unique building, thanks to which your visit to this royal city will become a powerful experience. This architectural and church gem was built by the local master builders over the course of more than 500 years.

KOSTNICE

The Cemetery Church of All Saints with the Ossuary
Can you imagine more bizarre decoration than a lustre that is made of human bones, or an ornament from human blade-bones or huckle-bones? It is really a strange place. Nearly every day buses carry hundreds of living scaffolds, that watch this place with great interest and look on their elegantly aligned fellows. This is how it looks under the x-rays of the eternity. Kostnice is unique.

Cesky Krumlov

A town that reaches to the skies above a bend on the River Vltava, Český Krumlov is a pearl of Renaissance architecture and a place where the sumptuousness of the local castle, mazelike alleyways, richly decorated coats of arms of burghers houses, and wonderful floral gardens are harmoniously interwoven; at the same time, it boasts medieval pubs, alehouses, galleries and graphite mines. Thanks to its unique preserved medieval core, Český Krumlov is included on the UNESCO list.

The Stara Myslivna Restaurant

The Stará Myslivna Restaurant in Konopiště was reopened at the beginning of 2009 after its complete reconstruction. The restaurant's hall is in the style of the Chateau interiors and the period of Franz Ferdinand d´Este. It features an original oil portrait of Franz Ferdinand and rich artistic ornamentation with priceless hunting trophies. This perfect stylish interior is supplemented with a rich offering of gourmet food comprised primarily of wild game specialities. A team of top culinary masters, who have represented Czech gastronomy the world over and also worked in the Czech restaurant at the 2005 Aichi World Expo in Japan, ensure the high quality of the meals from our own recipes. With its atmosphere, environment and quality food, Stará Myslivna convincingly ranks among the best themed restaurants in the Czech Republic.

Konopiste Chateau

Take a peek into Franz Ferdinand's bedroom at Konopiště Chateau Visit a chateau where one of the first electric lifts, electricity and plumbing mains were installed! Walk through the sitting rooms and guest rooms, the dining room and armoury and imagine yourself for a moment in the life of the chateau before World War One. In the official factory museum of the JAWA brand, you can then admire unique exhibits, trophies and historical documents relating to the most famous of Czech motorcycles.
Konopiště Castle, founded as a Gothic fortress, was inspired by French fortresses with a symmetrical layout of the towers, several entrances and drawbridges. Thanks to many modifications, it was gradually converted into a romantic chateau with luxuriously furnished interior modified for the everyday life of the aristocracy.

KONOPIŠTĚ IN MODERN HISTORY

Konopiště Chateau was chosen by the successor to the Habsburg throne Franz Ferdinand as his seat. His assassination in Sarajevo was a pretext for the start of World War One. World War Two also influenced history at Konopiště, with the SS headquarters being established here.
Franz Ferdinand wanted to trump the King of England
Franz Ferdinand was a passionate hunter and collector. During a tour of the chateau, you can admire his valuable collection of weapons, the so-called Este Armoury, which is one of the largest in Europe. Franz Ferdinand also had an extension built comprising one room to hold more than 1,000 portraits of St. George, with which he allegedly wanted to beat the similar collection owned by the King of England. The Great Trophy Corridor bears testament to Franz Ferdinand's passion for hunting. The archduke killed almost 300,000 animals during his life. The representative lounges with exceptionally valuable Italian cabinets, the Great Dining Hall with ceiling paintings and the living room of Franz Ferdinand's family will provide you with an insight into everyday life at the chateau.
In search of a bear and into the Konopiště gardens
When visiting the chateau, you must make sure to have a look around the extensive chateau park with free-roaming pheasants, peacocks and quails. The pleasant aroma of the Rose Gardens and their greenhouses make them the ideal spot to have a rest. You can even plan a picnic on the banks of the nearby fishpond or buy some refreshments in the new Chateau restaurant in the courtyard.

Food in Czech

CZECH SOUP NOT ONLY A DISH BUT ALSO A CURE

Czech cooks are masters of cooking soup. You are in Czech cuisine and a long tradition of a strong position, which was once the cooking practically elevated to art. Soup is undoubtedly an important chapter in the traditional Czech cuisine. The garlic soup broth, Czech soups are extremely good and almost reached the magical effects. Soup is the Basis, our Grandmothers Say In more explicit terms, soup is the basis of a real valuable meal, preparing our stomach for the main course and adding to the palette of flavours tasted while eating.

Soup can warm you up on a cold winter day or help heal when you have a cold. Other soups prepared in different versions all over the country include kyselo (sourdough and mushroom soup) or kulajda. The latter is a thick white-colour soup made from potatoes, cream and mushrooms, often enriched with egg and seasoned with vinegar and chopped dill. Preparation of this filling delicacy takes you only 30 minutes.

THE STORY OF THE CZECH DUMPLING

Originally, the Czech word of 'knedlík' was used for round or elongated mixtures of meat and reconstituted bread-rolls. Flour began to be added only in the 17th century. At this point, the dumplings were closer to buns: kneaded out of flour, eggs, yeast and salt, and baked. As to when they began to be boiled in water, or when bits of hardened pastry began to be added, these questions are unresolved even today.

Now, Czech cuisine can take pride in many different types of yeast-raised dumplings. One variation on the bread dumpling, the most common type, is the "Karlovy Vary dumpling", flavoured with herbs and lightened with egg-whites. Also popular is the potato dumpling, of dough prepared from flour and boiled potatoes, or another potato version, the "wooly dumpling" in which flour is mixed with raw grated potatoes.

Shopping in Prague

The quantity and quality of products available in the Czech Republic has improved dramatically since the early 1990s. The most prominent changes are noticeable in Prague where many new hypermarkets and shopping malls have appeared in the last several years. The increased competition and consumer demand have resulted in a better selection, improving customer service and lower prices, making shopping a more enjoyable activity. World known brands' boutique shops are all located at the most famous Paris Street in the Prague city center. Every Chinese visitor loves to see this street and shop for great prices. Prague is a great place to shop for Czech souvenirs, however a rather expensive. The center of Prague is filled with souvenir shops offering all kinds of typical Czech products, from wooden toys to jewelry to expensive cut crystal and glass items. We will guide you to shops where you can buy typical Czech products of high quality for great prices in authentic environment such as jewelry factory, goldsmith shop, leathershop, and many others.

Traditional Czech Products

Glass - The glass-making industry has a very long tradition in the Czech Republic and Czech glass is well know the world over. Glass-making in particular developed during the 13th century in the Jizerské and Lužické mountain ranges due to the locally available raw materials. Beautiful glass and porcelain are produced in other areas, such as the Dub region or in Nová Rol. The most renowned Czech glass comes from Jablonec nad Nisou and Nový Bor. Glass products from the Czech Republic are prized on the world market and come in a wide range of varieties, the most popular of which is lead crystal, cut glass and glass figurines, Christmas ornaments, domestic glass and chandeliers.

Porcelain - Branded porcelain has been a traditional Czech product for a long time. The best-known products include onion-pattern porcelain and the Thun-branded porcelain made in Karlovy Vary. The corporation Český porcelán Dubí is one of four manufacturers of the highly demanded "porcelain of generations," i.e. onion-pattern porcelain. It continues the tradition that began as early as 1864. Since 1997, the trademark registered in 1993 was enhanced with a designation of country of origin. To make the trademark text more legible, it is presently applied in a green-blue color.

Czech jewlery - Much like Czech glass, Czech jewelery is sought after the world over. It has a long tradition and even growing competition has been able to weaken its position on the market. Jewelery from the Czech Republic remains a favorite among women all over the world.

Beer - Czech beer is one of the best-known and most requested beers worldwide. The biggest Czech brewers include Plzeňský Prazdroj, Pivovary Staropramen, Budvar, Bernard, PMS Přerov, Drinks Union and Starobrno. There are many other smaller, often family-run breweries in the Czech Republic, which are mostly operated in combination with a restaurant, where you can sample the local beer on the spot.

Olomouc Curd Cheese - The curd cheese from the town of Olomouc is a true curiosity and culinary delicacy. Records documenting the production of this curd cheese, called "syrečky" in Czech, date to the 1500s.

Automobiles - Only four car manufacturers in the world can boast more than 100 years of tradition. One of these is Škoda. It was founded as a family business by Laurin and Klement in 1895. First, the two young men produced bicycles in Mladá Boleslav, and later on they manufactured motorbikes. In 1905, they produced the "Grandfather Automobile" – L&K Sd Limousine. That was when the successful era of car manufacturing began. After merging with Škoda Plzen in 1925, great development followed.

Tramcars - Škoda Holding, a.s., continues the production activities commonly connected with its traditional Czech name of Škoda Plzen. Škoda Holding, a.s., was created following a major financial and organizational restructuring. It is a financial holding that financially and methodically manages its subsidiaries. It is wholly owned by Appian Group, an international investment group. Together with its subsidiaries, Škoda Holding, a.s., employs nearly 3,000 people. The company produces a wide range of transportation equipment (of which the currently best known model is the Škoda-Inekon 10T, a tramcar you can encounter in many cities worldwide). Other products include machine tools, center lathes, milling cutter machines and drilling machines, and power-generation and distribution equipment. Škoda Power is another company belonging to Škoda Holding. It is responsible for the manufacture of machine parts for steam turbines and heat exchangers in engine rooms. Its clients include power stations (steam and nuclear) and waste burning stations. Additionally, Škoda Power offers a host of related services for the long-term maintenance and upkeep of its products.

Parachute gliders - The manufacturing of paragliders (parachute gliders) is quite extensive in the Czech Republic, which is proof of the ability of Czech manufacturers to follow the latest trends and to use state-of-the-art technologies (Macpara) in designing this aircraft. The products have of course received safety attestations from the DHV and AFNOR international test laboratories.

Baťa - The Baťa footwear company was founded in 1894 by Tomáš Baťa, a shoemaker from Zlín, together with his siblings Antonín and Anna. Currently the company employs 50,000 staff and operates 50 production plants in 68 countries around the world and has sold over 221 million pairs of shoes.
